

Skaters Popularize Gordon's Lake.
Many skaters have taken advantage of ice that has formed on Gordon's Lake on East Broadway. The ice is about five inches thick and very smooth. Quite a crowd may be seen there both day and night as long as the cold spell holds out.

THREE DAYS OF LIFE GIVEN UP

Prisoners Ask Execution Today to Avoid Christmas Funeral.

By United Press
OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Stanley Millstein, 19 years old and Charles Kumrow, 20 years old, gave up three days of their lives, in which something might have intervened to save them, that they might spare their families the sorrow of a Christmas funeral. They went to their death in the electric chair here at dawn today. The execution was set for Friday. They asked to be permitted to die today. Millstein was the youngest prisoner ever sent to death at Sing Sing.

CITY AND CAMPUS

Miss Florence Smith, who has been visiting at the Phi Mu house went to Stockton, Kan., this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Ehler, who have been here on business, went to their home at Browns this morning.

Mrs. D. E. Simrall went to Salina, Kan., this morning to spend the Christmas holidays. Her daughter Miss Josephine Simrall, will spend the holidays in St. Louis and Morris, Ill.

Miss Frances Clark left for Ponca City, Okla., today.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris, who live five miles southwest of Columbia, last night.

Boone County Woman Asks Divorce.

A petition for divorce was filed late yesterday afternoon before Circuit Clerk J. E. Boogs by Mrs. Nellie Evans Allen against William Puller Allen on grounds of desertion and indignities. The couple were married September 23, 1914, and have one child about a year old. They formerly lived in the country east of Columbia.

WOMAN'S DRESSING TABLE A LESSON FOR PACIFISTS

There is an old verse somewhere that talks about looking up-stairs, downstairs and in my lady's chamber—if you look at her downstairs she is a dream; but upstairs, in my lady's chamber, is where the dream comes true. In modern days science has been called in to assist art as first aid to nature—they have formed a sort of triple, entente and have made beauty-seeking a successful campaign.

Her dressing table, indeed, is almost an arsenal, a feminized form of warfare against the hostile forces of neglect. With its shining array of glass and silver, it is undoubtedly pretty, but it has something of the glitter of efficiency. The cold cream in the artistic glass jar has a scientific formula; the faint perfume in the gracefully designed perfume flagon is a triumph of distillation. The hand lotion comes perhaps from Paris, but also from a laboratory. There is even a new powder said to be made from crushed white violets—and as for soaps, they are good enough to eat, made out of rare herbs and oils mysteriously mingled. No modern maid goes out in the pale dawn to wash her face in the dew—a fashion once held to be a whitening magic for the complexion. Instead, she consults a specialist.

Nowadays, "Who can doubt the secrets hid Under Cheop's pyramid." have all been discovered and improved upon. Even the curling tongs by which our grandmothers used to achieve that fetching bang have given place to the permanent wave—not a mere transitory fluffiness that comes out when it rains and hangs in limp hypocrisy around her cheek—"like sea-weed on a clam"—but a real curl that curls the more in wet and windy weather.

Indeed all the technique of my lady's toilette has become complex.

There are manicure sets dazzling in their intricacy and deliberately decorative. There are little vanity cases with enameled tops or chased in gold and silver or ornamented with gold lace. There are perfume-balls, hung on slender chains, tangible in themselves but elusive in their fragrance.

There are glass-flasks for smelling salts, and flasks for eau de cologne.

There are tall, slender bottles, and short squat ones, there are lip sticks and eye-brow pencils—works of art artfully used.

There are crystal trays to hold all this ammunition, on glass-topped toilet tables.

If it were not for the luxury of it, one might almost trace a resemblance to a surgeon's kit—it is all so hygienic and efficient. But when my lady sits before her dressing table with an ivory mirror in her hand and her feet on a boudoir footstool of pink satin, science is reduced merely to the role of femme de chambre.

WILL FIND OUT ABOUT BUILDING

M. U. Women to Seek Opinions of Legislators During Vacation.

Missouri legislators are going to get a chance to play Santa Claus to the University women during the Christmas holidays. The women have been good, mighty good, and they want a women's building.

Members of the Women's Athletic Association last night were appointed to take a poll of members of the lower house of the next Missouri General Assembly. The work will be done during the holidays. No argument will be used, but the opinion of the representative will be taken down in black and white and handed in to those in charge of the movement here.

The votes will be cast up at the first meeting of the association after the holidays and further plans made for getting action in the next meeting of the Legislature.

Several amendments to the association's constitution were adopted last night. No point shall be awarded in tennis, archery or swimming unless there are at least three competitors from each class; beginners who have learned to swim in twelve consecutive lessons in one semester shall be awarded one point; when an event in which it is possible to win points toward an M is added or eliminated, the total number of points required for an M shall be raised or lowered, according to the discretion of the board and the approval of the association.

Hockey numerals were awarded to the following girls who made their class teams: Seniors—Misses Anne Stewart, Thelma Gwinn, Kathryn Smith, Geneva Drinkwater, Georgina Clarke, Mary Robertson, Ruth Hadden, Laura Joe Schwabe, Mary Coats, Mildred Spalding, Cyrene Shepard, Bernice Wilson, Flossie Tickle and Nellie Martin; Juniors—Misses Ruth Garton, Ruby Cline, Edna Scott, Lois Patton, Marie Neff, Roberta Kellogg, Florence Smith, Meryl Leavel, Dorothy Mumford, Katherine King, Katherine Keiser, Helen Redding, Elizabeth Stockton and Margaret Blackburn; sophomores—Misses Rose Armstrong, Beatrice Heibel, Naomi Shrader, Jennie Kingsley, Gertrude Thurman, Beulah Pool, Lorraine Furney, Esther Jones, Margaret Hocker, Ruby Umstadt, Helen Copeland, Kathryn Wyant and Garcia Rowley; freshmen—Frances Lewis, Virginia Wood, Margaret Speihler, Hazel George, Cecilia Haskin, Mary L. Bond, Charla, Huddler, Anna Thompson, Zella Ella Edwards, Jessie Mead, Ruth Dulaney, Consuelo Provost, Martha Shockley and Nita Pursell.

DEBATING TROPHY OFFERED

Loving Cup for Society Making Best Record Given by QEBH.

A new loving cup as trophy for the annual inter-society debating contest between the Athenaeum and M. S. U. literary societies has been put up by Q. E. B. H. The selection of a new trophy was made necessary by the winning of the old trophy last year by the Athenaeum Society for the third time, giving it the cup.

The cup is awarded on the basis of comparative showings in the annual tryouts for places on the University debating squad and the teams that represent the University in its inter-collegiate debates. In case of a tie, it is specified by Q. E. B. H. that the winner of the trophy for that year shall be decided by a debate between the societies.

DEBATING SQUAD IS CHOSEN

Triangular Contest With Oklahoma-Texas to Be Held in March.

A final squad of eight men was chosen last night to represent the University in the triangular debate with Oklahoma and Texas. These men, chosen from among the fifteen who withstood the preliminary elimination last Tuesday are: Leonard Coatsworth, Mexico; Morris Dry, Mexico; Fred Gableman, Kansas City; Frank Henzlik, Columbia; Frank Lowe, Kansas City; Nathan Scarritt, Kansas City; Fred Suddarth, Kansas City and J. G. Umstadt, Columbia.

The question debated was: "Resolved: that all state and local revenues should be drawn from a single tax on land values." Six of the eight men chosen upheld the negative of the question, and two the affirmative.

A. P. Lewin of the English department, who is coaching the debating teams, thinks that the triangular debate will not be held before March. Other debates scheduled are with the universities of Wisconsin and Kansas. Preliminary tryouts for these will be held after the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. W. H. Naylor Critically Ill.

Mrs. W. H. Naylor, who has been ill with heart disease for several weeks at her home on East Broadway, was much worse this morning. Her daughter Mrs. Del Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Lon Naylor of St. Louis have come to be with Mrs. Naylor.

FILM COMEDIANS TO BE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew Will Spend Holiday With Relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, of national motion picture fame, accompanied by Mrs. Drew's brother, Hartley McVey, will arrive in Columbia Saturday, December 23, to spend Christmas week with Mrs. Drew's mother and sister, Mrs. C. F. McVey and Miss Rose McVey of the Dumas Apartments. Mrs. Drew was formerly Miss Lucille McVey of Sedalia, and this will be the first visit home since her marriage. Mr. Drew has never before visited the Middle West.

Hartley McVey, who was a student in the University last year, is now Mr. Drew's private secretary in New York City and is also engaged in motion picture work there.

The visit of Mr. and Mrs. Drew will be of interest to the many Columbians who have so often seen the Drew comedies on the screen and who will now have a chance to see these actors in real life.

Secret Marriage is Announced.

The marriage of Miss Sarah Wright and Harry Freeman at Mexico December 2 has just been announced. The couple planned to keep the marriage secret until Christmas day, but friends got hold of the information and made the announcement necessary. Mr. Freeman is the only daughter of Mrs. Laura Wright of Columbia, and is a former student of Christian College. Mr. Freeman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman of Columbia. Mr. Freeman formerly worked at Gilman & Dorsey's Drug Store, but during the last year has managed his own store at Brookfield, Mo.
